DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-22 are presented for the examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1, 4, 5, 7, 9, 10, 13, 15, 16, 18, 20, 22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Li (US. Patent 6,748,386 B1) in view of Gupta et al (US. Patent 5,826,258).
3. As to claim 1, Li teaches the application substantially as claimed including: a data store having a plurality of directory entries (DBMSs 70/78, col 6, ln 47-50/ Fig. 2B), a server server (the application server 52, col 6, ln 47-50), a API couple to said data stored (common database connectivity API 76, Fig. 2 B/ col 6, ln 47-50), a receiving a directory entry (col 7, ln 50-53), a wrapper (a wrapper servlet the name of the original server, col 6, ln 30-37/ wrapper JDBC 78, col 6, ln 60-67/ fig. 2B), user application(a user application , col 3, ln 46-50), a wrapper coupled to said API for accepting request from a user interface(col 3, ln 46-67/ col 6, ln 64-67/ col 3, ln 52-67).
4. Li does not explicit teach request as a query which is sent to a wrapper. However, Gupta teaches sending query to wrapper (query is sent through wrapper, col 9, ln 7-12).

Art Unit: 2126

5. It would have been obvious to one of the ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to combine the teaching of Li and Gupta because Gupta's query would retrieves information from the databases.

6. As to claim 4, Li teaches a plurality of API coupled to said data store, each API adapted to send said query to said data store and receive one of said plurality of directory entries (the API of DBMS 70 and external information source 74, Fig. 3/ col 6, ln 55-67, col 6, ln 42-50).

7. As to claim 5, Li teaches a plurality of wrapper each said wrapper coupled to one or more of said API (a wrapper servlet the name of the original server, col 6, ln 30-37/ wrapper JDBC 78, col 6, ln 60-67/ fig. 2B).

8. As to claim 7, Li teaches API is adapted to receive one of said plurality of directory entries from said data store and send said one of the directory entries to said user application (col 7, ln 17-24).

9. As to claim 9, Li teaches API is adapted to received said one of said plurality of directory entries in response to said query (col 7, ln 17-20).

10. As to claim 10, it is an apparatus claim of claims 1 and 7; therefore, it is rejected for the same reasons as claims 1 and 7 above.

11. As to claims 13, 15, 16, they are apparatus claims of claims 4, 5,17; therefore, they are rejected for the same reasons as claims 4, 5, 17 above.

12. As to claim 18, it is an apparatus claim of claim 10; therefore, it is rejected for the same reason as claim 10 above.

13. As to claim 20, it is an apparatus claim of claim 10; therefore, it is rejected for the same reason as claim 10 above. In additional, Li teaches program instruction (programs, col 3, ln 52-54).

14. As to claim 22, it is an apparatus claim of claim 1; therefore, it is rejected for the same reason as claim 1 above. In additional, Li teaches service capable of serving up web pages (col 2, ln 5-9).

15. Claims 2, 3, 11, 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Li (US. Patent 6,748,386 B1) in view of Gupta et al (US. Patent 5,826,258) as applied to claim 1 above and further in view of Kumar et al (US. Patent 6,343,287 B1).

16. As to claims 2,3, Li and Gupta do not teach a relational database, an LDAP data store. However, Kumar teaches a relational database, LDAP (relational database, LDAP, Fig. 3).

17. It would have been obvious to one of the ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to combine the teaching of Li, Gupta and Kumar because Kumar's relational database and LDAP would allow user to initiate a search for the requesting from the user.

18. As to claims 11, 12, they are apparatus claims of claims 2, 3; therefore, they are rejected for the same reasons as claims 2, 3 above.

19. Claims 6, 14, 19, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Li (US. Patent 6,748,386 B1) in view of Gupta et al (US. Patent 5,826,258) as applied to claim 1 above and further in view of Coden et al (US. Patent 5,873,080).

20. As to claim 6, Li and Gupta do not teach an API locator on said web server for selecting one of said plurality of API in response to said query. However, Coden teaches an API locator on said web server for selecting one of said plurality of API in response to said query (each query object (112-117), contained in the combined query 110 is directed by the query interface 130 to one or more engines by calls to that engine's application programming interface (API) (152, 154, 156) respectively, col 6, ln 46-51/ ln 60-66).

21. It would have been obvious to one of the ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to combine the teaching of Li, Gupta and Coden because Coden's an API locator on said web server for selecting one of said plurality of API in response to said query would find relevant documents need to be able to specify conditions on the content.

22. As to claims 14, 19, they are apparatus claims of claim 6; therefore, they are rejected for the same reasons as claim 6 above.

23. Claims 8, 17, 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Li (US. Patent 6,748,386 B1) in view of Gupta et al (US. Patent 5,826,258) as applied to claim 1 above and further in view of Madnick et al (US. 6,282,537 B1).

24. As to claim 8, Li and Gupta do not teach send said one of said directory entries to said user application through said wrapper. However, Madnick teaches send said one of said directory entries to said user application through said wrapper (the results from the semi-structured data sources distributed over the network are returned to the wrapper generator 614, col 15, ln 1-6).

Art Unit: 2126

25. It would have been obvious to one of the ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to combine the teaching of Li, Gupta and Madnick because Madnick's said one of said directory entries to said user application through said wrapper would provide the user with a complete response to the query.

26. As to claims 17, 21, they are apparatus claims of claim 8; therefore, they are rejected for the same reasons as claim 8 above.

Response to the argument

27. Applicant amendment filed on 11/23/2004 has been considered but they are not persuasive:

Applicant argued in substance that :

(1) " Applicants submit herewith a Declaration of prior invention under 37 C. F. F. 1.

28. Examiner respectfully disagreed with Applicant's remarks:

As to the point (1), The Declaration filed on 12/23/2004 under 37 CFR 1.131 have been considered but is ineffective to overcome the Li (US. Patent 6,748,386 B1) because of following reasons.

Each of exhibit D--A, E--a, F--a, G- - A must be mapped to the individual claims.

29. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO

Art Unit: 2126

MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
